

she went to the courthouse and waited in line to submit a petition to the prosecutor detailing her complaint. While these are necessarily separate activities, the effective eriminal investigations and prosecution of perpetrators. Authorities in DiyarbakñÂr took more than two weeks to issue an arrest warrant for TarñÂk Kaplan and protection for Nurcan and her mother after this attack. Lawyers also struggle to press because there is a clear lack of synchronization between courts issuing protective and proventive orders and prosecutors on a separate track investigating criminal complaints. However, they underlined that changes introduced in January 2020 overhauled the system of dealing with domestic violence and that the current situation should be judged on the basis of the new system rather than on how things functioned previously. They said that they rely entirely on the provisions outlined in this law to do their work. In practice, it also means that Turkey rejects scrutiny of its record despite having previously been guided by the recommendations of the convention. Suggesting the problem stemmed from a lack of communication between ministries, she stated: ¢ÃÂAThe problem of missing data and differences in data is a big problem from the perspective of being able to prevent violence and implement effective policies. In five of Arslan¢ÃÂAs 23 criminal complaints, the EskiÂAehir chief prosecutor¢ÃÂAs office referred her to the settlement office, established in December 2016 to reduce the workload of the judiciary by offering parties the option not to proceed with a criminal complaint. The Turkish Government's statements on the Convention³ have not been strictly focused on recording the concern ³ it adopt an inclusive approach to ³ protection. Since the divorce, M.O. continued its threatening and aggressive behavior, which caused F.Ã. In June 2021, the Minister of Justice provided a parliamentary committee ³ to examine the causes of violence against women with figures on the number of perpetrators sentenced to prison terms for 3 failure to comply with the 3 orders of prevention A 3 n and protection A and protection A and protection A and been taken away by a man who had "tainted her.Â" However, that same day he withdrew his complaint and his request for protectionà 3 n, apparently under the presià 3 n of his family elders. Law No. 6284 incorporates many aspects of the Council of Europe Convention on the Prevention3 Combating of Violence against Women and Domestic Violence (known as the Istanbul Convention) into the domestic law of TurquÃa and remains in force despite the withdrawal of Turkey from the Convention in 2021. However, despite the name of the centers, it is not clear whether they actually follow up, as they do not publish the results or report transparently to the public. A police officer who heads a domestic violence unit said: Â"We are trying to do something here and it may take time, but I think it will succeed. The following cases also ³ detailed measures taken to investigate and prosecute the perpetrators of domestic violence. The police will take us to the I would take our statements. In fact, Turquãa was the first country to ratify the conviction, which opened to the signature on May 11, 2011 in Istanbul. With regard to the implementation ³ the ³ protection orders³ GREVIO focused on the State's obligation ³ protect women and the importance of accountability for the lack of protection³ urging the authorities to: 36.b. exercise due diligence to (1) review and systematically take into account the risk of revictimization ³ the implementation ³ effective measures to protect victims from any additional violence and damage, and (2) investigate and punish acts of violence; c. In some police stations, officers interviewed victims of domestic violence in spaces barely separated from the areas where male suspects accused of other crimes were escorted. However, this gives little information ³ on the qualitative impact of the measures, their success and failure rates, the number of violations of the protection measures ³ and the penalties for such violations and, above all, whether women themselves are generally experiencing better protection³ n. The only witness to the incident was Baakà Å 's mother. Conclusion³ As illustrated by the cases examined in this report, the Turkish authorities face major challenges in combating violence against women perpetrated mainly by former spouses 3 partners. Prosecutor Divarbakr separately investigated and accused Oruà Â Â § of kidnapping and sexual abuse of a child (a charge 3 including rape) in 2013. His views are examined in detail Chapter 3. In 11 cases, judicial actions were initiated and in three of them, one of which consisted of the fusion of two files, Zalpay was acquitted due to lack of Two prosecutions in January and February 2022. While serving his sentence, S. G. wrote letters to Merzuka complaining that his complaints against him had prevented him from being transferred to a semi-open prison ³ or benefiting from early release in the context of the Covid-19 pandemic. In another case, M. D. was acquitted of insults, threats to kill his children and the blow to the head. The Ministry of Justice presented data to a parliamentary committee ³ 2021-22 on the number of persons who received ³ protection orders³ Number of persons who received ³ protection orders³ A not prevention orders³ and preven 151,715 2,552 2018 181,072 4,648 2019 195,242 5,725 2018 20 244, 985 7,293 2021 272,870 10,401 Government data does not provide 3 information on implementation 3. An experienced retired family court judge interviewed by Human Rights Watch expressed concern 3 the fact that the government and the courts are trying to divert the crores by presenting as a success the large number of 3 protection 3 and prevention orders 3 being issued. You'll be calling the police and your lawyer. Since then, a Gaziantep court has ordered M.O. to wear a unique electronic tag that was affixed to him in October 2021. Surprisingly, the court reduced Oruà §Ã Â" sentence because it had alleged that Pelda had been unfaithful. Although successful in some cases, the need to resort to such practices is an accusation³ that the authorities do not provide protection ³ or do not adequately respond to the risks faced by victims. The Regional Court of Appeals annulled the sentence and on April 19, 2021, ruled that the orugin oruã§ be sentenced to life imprisonment for intentional murder. The decision ³ TurquÃa and other relevant case houses, ensure that the authorities are considered through a criminal investigation that leads to the possibility of prosecution and conviction for failure to exercise due diligence by providing protection ³ victims who contribute to or result in damage to the last victim or threats to life; Make sure that in cases of domestic violence where ³ preventive and protective orders; Ensure that liquidation processes ³ not become a means by which perpetrators of violence can avoid being held accountable for their crimes; Ensure that those who carry out the liquidation process are properly trained ³ understand the particular complexity of cases of domestic violence, have a duty to make clear to the victims that settlement is never obligatory and should not be a means of encouraging the victims to consent to the impunity of the perpetrators; Organize sessions for settlement experts to train them on appropriate behavior and protocols in cases of domestic violence. Two days later, the prosecutor Diyarbakà < $A \pm R$ orderÃ³ a preventive order based on Article 5/1/A, B, C, D that prohibiÃ³ Mesut Issà ≤ ± contact Boylu for 15 days. They include the establishment of local risk management teams ³ monitor threats to victims of recurrent domestic violence and those at high risk, creating an instant notification system ³ the police when perpetrators are convicted of domestic violence released from prison³ which increases the use of unique electronic tags ³ be used by perpetrators, providing more training ³ police and increased resources. Mor Ne â Atà < Â ± Representatives also informed Human Rights Watch that the implementation ³ the ³ orders were uneven. At the very least, this includes an order to cease all abusive, violent and threatening behavior. The mere fact of issuing a high number of ³ preventive orders and an increasing number of ³ protection orders does not ³ prove by itself that the system is effective. The case is currently on appeal ³ the Court of Cassation ³. The police had briefly detained Tarà űk Kaplan but released him on the same day. The police arrested S. G., but a court released him on bail the next day on the condition ³ he checked himself into the police station, and apparently ignoring the fact that he had flagrantly violated a parole measure imposed on him in connection ³ an almost identical knife attack on his wife earlier. On February 22, N.K. and his mother went in person to their local police station after ³ contacted an interpreter, with whom Human Rights Watch also spoke. The Ministry of the Interior's own figures presented a parliamentary committee³ on violence against women, show that in about 8.5 per cent of the immediate presented a parliamentary committee³ on violence against women had been granted a protection order³ or permanent prevention³ at the time of their murder. N.K. doesn't speak Turkish. Before this deadly attack, the courts had issued four separate 3 preventive orders aimed at keeping EA Šref away from Yemen after she harassed her when she filed for divorce. On April 16, 2019, Boylu filed a third complaint against Issà ű citing â Å threats, insults, and bodily harm ŠŢ Å Two days after receiving a 15-day preventive order prohibiting Mesut IssŠű from contacting her again. The Eskià ehir prosecutor's office refused to prosecute ten of his complaints, citing lack of evidence. Poor data collection prevents the authorities and the public from having a clear idea of the extent of domestic violence in Turkey or the deficiencies in the implementation of protection, which contribute to the ongoing risks for victims. On May 19, 2019, Iss± shot Boylu eleven times in front of his two sons in Diyarbak± after a school graduation ceremony. All police officers and judges reported that, in the case of homicides, they immediately checked the records to determine whether there was a history of ill-treatment. On September 29, 2020, a court in Diyarbak± sentenced Iss± to life imprisonment with aggravated circumstances for "deliberate murder of his spouse". The Regional Court of Appeals approved the sentence, and the case is now before the Court of Cassation. Victims can also get temporary financial support when the police issue a protection order. An experienced family court judge told Human Rights Watch, "There is a growing number of [preventive and protective] orders issued and this is related to the increase in the population, the increase in women's self-confidence, and also the impact of the [Covid] pandemic that triggered a "Prosecutors investigation. III. One of the most striking elements of many of the cases is that the victims, their families or their lawyers, felt compelled to resort to social media to seek help from the authorities or to oppose the release of the perpetrators.
